

taught at an early age

"We were taught at an early age by our grandfather and father in their own conventional and traditional mindset that there's a difference between interest and commitment. When you're interested in doing something, you do it only when time, resources and condition permit. When you're committed to something, you accept no excuses but are socially and spiritually inspired with passion only for result." (Firoz Shroff)